Three hundred years ago the first proclamation of a public Thanksgiving was promulgated by Governor Bradford before the little Plymouth colony, which had been reduced by the rigor of a bitter winter to fiftyfive souls from the original company of 101, and which was surrounded in an unexplored wilderness by savages, and practically marooned from the civilized world.

Yet these brave Pilgrim fathers and mothers feasted and celebrated for three days rendering thanks for their deliverance from the religious persecution of the homeland, the barbaric persecution of a savage land, and the hardships of their crude life. The great Indian chief, Massasoyt, with ninety of his fol lowers, joined in the festival.

Joyful Thanksgiving. Probably no Thanksgiving day in he history of our country can equal n joy and genuine thankfulness that of 1918 when the guns upon foreign fields had scarcely ceased to thunder. Closely allied in spirit to this celebration was that of Thanksgiving in 1778 when France had just concluded her treaty of friendship and alliance with the thirteen American states, following the winter spent by Washington at Valley Forge on the banks of the Schuylkill above Philadelphia.

Joy was unbounded. Cannon salutes and military maneuvers marked the day's jubilation. Lafayette, Lord Stirling and General Green were present. The parade ground was graced by Mrs. Washington surrounded by many ladies. Cries of "Long Live the French King" and "The American States" reverberated everywhere. No greater pathos can be found in any festival than that of Thanksgiving called for by General Wash ington during that winter of 1777 when his men could find no quarters in the little Pennsylvania towns crowded with refugees after the fall of Philadelphia.

Thanks for Success In his proclamation on Decembe 17 he urged his little army to comply with the call of congress to render thanks for the success of their campaigns and then turned to the pathetic and dire needs of the moment, advising that "with activity and diligence huts may be erected that will be warm and dry in which troops will be more secure against surprise and at hand to protect the

Years and years ago, when our sturdy forefathers gave thanks for the bare fact of being alive, for a bounteous harvest which would appear meager to us, they gave to the race a courage, an appreciation which has made life in America worth living through the more than a century which has passed. Today we have much to be thankful for. The increasing worth of money, indicated by the messages of your merchants is one of the chief reasons for thankfulness. Later during the hearing, when it was stated that Hart had been at various times convicted of burclary and larceny in addition to having served "whisky terms," and also a term in the state sanitarium on a voluntary plea of insanity, Solicitor General Boykin was asked by Attorney Hill whether he believed Hart's testimony to be

"Gentlemen." said Mr. Boykin, am so confident in my own mind that Terry is guilty of the charges now being heard against him that would be willing to secure his conviction upon the testimony of Hart or any other person."

Mr. Boykin also contended that, in spite of opinions to the contrary voiced at the meeting, that whisky could be stolen. He explained that he had made an exhaustive study of the law on the subject and tbat the nineteenth amendment did not make the possession of liquor held prior to its adoption allegal, the amendment being directed at whisky for beverage purposes. For these reasons he held that liquor can be stolen, although Commissioner Chambers and others present were of different opinions.

Chairman Andy R. King, who seconded the resolution calling for the probe, in executive session of the board, offered a resolution to the effect that, inasmuch as Terry stood convicted of contempt of court and was released.

testified to substantially the same facts. They declared that they were called by a negro to come to the place where they were assured whisky was being moved, and that they slipped up the alley until they could see the car and two men loading whisky.

Howell declared that as they leaped from concealment the man in the car, who had just gotten into his seat, started the auto and that he jumped on the running board as it passed him. He says he was trying to gain a hold on the door when he was struck in the side by the man in the rear seat, and he was thrown from the car and injured. Alley Conditions.

When the chief was asked who was responsible for the condition of alleys, he gave the inaeresting inpublic alley, and that it is located formation that Atlanta has but one public alley, and that it is located between Alabama street and the railroad. Atlanta, he said, is rich in alleys owned by private individuals, and these privately-owned alleys should be kept in good condition by the individuals owning them. The chief stated that if ward chairmen fall to get certain individuals to clean the alleys belonging to them, he might look into the matter, saying that all nuisances are amenable to the law, though the city is not responsible by any present law for conditions of private property.

The recommendation was made that ward chairmen can more easily under the present campaign mention the condition of badly-kept property owners, as frequently such property is rented and the owners are not aware of such conditions.

Mrs. Plato Durham, representing the Young Woman's Christian association, was present and stated that her organization was taking an active part fin the cleaning campaign, and that every member had been asked to take the message to her home and community in every part of the city.

Mrs. Treadwell, chairman of the eighth ward committee of the city federation, reported that she had ten succommotitees, each, one of these composed of ten members, and that they had begun their work of survey with every evidence of success. Mrs. Jerome Jones, chairman of the seventh ward committee, reported that she had the same committee working with her now which had begun the work in 1907, and that its members would work with renewed interest. Mrs. Alfred Wilson, chairman of the vacant lot committe, and also chairman of the home garden committee of the city federation, reported that her committee was making a survey of vacant lots and that they hope to have every one of these clean and in good condition. She urged upon the women present to impress the law of order and cleanliness upon their children.

MINISTER GIVEN SURPRISE PARTY BY CONGREGATION

Rev. M. H. White, 237 Stuart avenue, was treated to a surprise following his Thanksgiving eve sermon Wednesday night at the Bonnie Brae Methodist Episcopal church, when upon reaching his home he found police officers at his door, ready to question him relative to a quantity of groceries in the front room of his rectory, and there were also present a number of witnesses—members of his congregation.

The officers suggested an investigation of other parts of the house. As the party entered the dininggation of other parts of the house. As the party entered the diningroom, lights suddenly blazed forth from the electric bulbs, and the officers dimmed their fleshlights, as

THE ORIGINAL PEN-ETRATING SALVE FOR COLDS AND CROUP

Formula Known as "Gowan's" Originated Nearly a Quarter of a Century Ago by Gowan Dusenberry.

Animal Fat Base Used to Get Fine for Babies.

WILL NOT STAIN CLOTHING

Nearly a quarter of a century ago the first, and original, penetrating salve for the external treatment of colds, spasmodic croup and other inflammations of the air passages, was formulated by Gowan Dusenberry, and marketed under the name "Gowan's."

Gowan's gets its penetrating qualities through the use of an animal fat base, which cannot be had with crude petrolatum, and, due to the fact that it does actually penetrate, it naturally reaches the seat of the trouble much quicker than sulves that rely strictly upon inhalation for their results.

Gowan's gives relief beyond belief and is especially fine for bables and children as it produces rubefacient effect without irritating or bilstering. It has many daily uses in the home and should be kept on hand for emergencies, such as cuts, burns, bruises, insect bites, etc. 30, 60c and $1.20 at your druggist and guaranteed to please or money refunded.—(adv.)

Twelve new teachers were employed at the Commercial High, nine of them being women.

According to Michael Dempsey, an Atlantan who for many years was associated with Mr. Temple in London in the production of the Glibert and Sullivan works, the plans for the incorporation of the Southern t Opera compar are progressing splendidly. The incorporators of the concern are residents of Atlanta. It has been proposed to call the opera company "The Atlantans."

Calls Constantine "Kaiser of Greece"

Declaring Constantine was th katser of Greece," and that the Greek people are already repentin the defeat of Venizelos, S. J. Geor-giades, president of the Venizelos party in Atlanta, Wednesday issued a statement opposing the return of the former ruler to Greece and urgthe opposition of the American government in such action.

"We have as much respect for the royalists in this country, as the Americans have for the bolshevists,' declared Mr. Georgiades. "Although they live and enjoy all the bleschigs of the great democratic country, they love their ex-king and so betray their motherland's great inter-

"We of the Venizelist party in Atlanta are greatly indebted to our American friends because we know a large number of them upbraided, as they deserved, some of our misguided Greek royalist brothers for their royalistic ideas and behavior," he continued. "We also expect our American friends, who stood by our side during our greatest national trouble, to raise their voice against the return of Constantine, the kaiser of Greece the return of Constantine, the kaiser of Greece.

"It is our desire that the American government in Washington will act on this international question in conformity with Great Britain and France. The royalists of Greece took advantage of the absence of Venizelos for two years in the councils of the world; upheaved all the wrongs of the people in the great war and placed the blame on the head of the premier.

"The Greek people never were tired of sacrifices in wealth and lives to the end, and the premier knew how to swell the Greek 'frog' to a larger size. But the royalists misled the people by unspeakable falsehoods. They hated Venizelos, desired the return of Constantine, and never forgot that if he came back they would get possession of the governmental offices.

"We are disheartened, but not beaten. We will stand by our great leader, Venizelos, and expect to win real democracy for him. The Greek people are already aware of what has happened and are repentent. Although there are 100 Greek royalists in Atlanta, when they celebrated the result of the present election, there were only fifteen present and these were depressed. This mans they are ashamed of themselves before the American people and are repentent.

In replying to James Totou, of Athens, Ga., who has taken the position Greece needs both Venizelos and Constantine, Mr. Georgiades stated that in his opinion "Constantine was trying to play a most difficult game. He wanted to please the entente and help his brother, the kaiser. He was playing the game of 'I love you entente, but O you kaiser."

FRANK SEALS IS FREED. Was Charged With Murder of Lonnie Liveoak.

Frank Seals, 19-year-old white boy, was acquitted of the charge of murder of Lonnie Liveoak, a fellow employee, at the plant of the At-employee, at the plant of the Atresented in this city by Frank H. by a jury in the criminal division of the superior court Wednesday afternoon. Liveoak was struck on the head with a pair of tongs in a quarrel between the two, and died at Wesley Memorial hospital on September 29.

The defendant was represented by Attorneys William Schley Howard and B. P. Gambrell, who contended that Seals acted in self-defense and that Liveoak died of pneumonia, which developed at the hospital. They also claim that the deceased was so slightly injured that he went to the courthouse after the quarrel and personally swore out the warrant for Seals' arrest. Assistant Solicitor E. A. Stephens prosecuted the case for the state.

GERMAN TO BE FREED.

Franz von Rintelen Ordered to Leave America.

After having been notified Wednesday that his sentence had been commuted by President Wilson, Franz von Rintelen, the German asent convicted during the war of conspiracy to destroy American and allited vessels on high seas by planting time bombs in their holds, is now awaiting the arrival of the commutation papers from Washington when he will be released from the federal prison.

Commutation of Von Rintelen's sentence was granted by the president of the condition that he leave the United States before January 1, 1921, and that he place a $5,000 bond as a guarantee that he would not be in this country on that date. Should Von Rintelen be in America at the expiration of the time limit he will be arrested and be subject to deportation.

Immediately after being notified of his commutation the German arranged the required bond through the Fidelity Bonding company, repattorney, Aldine Chambers, stated Reynolds, and it is understood he will leave for New York as soon as the necessary papers arrive here. Von Rintelen, it is said, is interested in reconstruction work in Germany and is connected with a large banking concern there.

The former German agent has served about two years in the federal prison on sentences totalling fifty months. He plans to sail for Germany after his release, his lantic Steel company September 24, Wednesday.

His Friend and His Wife

By COSMO HAMILTON.

(Continued From Yesterday.) Mary Miller said good-by to her work for at least an hour, shot a tender and admiring glance after the man with whom trouble did not seem to be acquainted, and braced herself up. She and Fate were not good friends. What had he sent to her this time?

It was one of Frankie's characteristic notes—a little self-conscious, in a large and upright hand—and it ran like this:

"I dined at the Castle last night, Margaret, dear, and came away early, a prey to many conflicting emotions. Mrs. Mahan had gone off to New York on her Red Cross business and so Elsa played hostess to Kenneth and Marjorie Holbrook, Ning Hopper, the Kesters, the Claytons and that dear man Allen Rumsey just back from Russia with a mouth full of strange warnings. Gilbert Carlton was there, too, and it gradually came to me during dinner that behind the apparent normality of the whole proceeding there either had been or there was going to be a domestic cruption. I could see that not only did Mr. Mahan want to confide in me but also Elsa and Gilbert. The two men missed their opportunity and I only was able to snatch a few minutes with Elsa. This was quite enough to keep me awake all night.

"My dear, you have never told me the full and complete story of your recent trouble, but there have been rumors—there always are. From what I caught from Elsa, or rather from what Elsa forced upon me. work for at least an hour, shot a it appears that she became engaged to Gilbert Cariton this afternoon, but that just before dinner, when she was in the seventh heaven of happiness, the stepfather refused to give his consent to the engagement until he was informed of the relationship between Gilbert and that nice little friend of yours, M. Miller. You may imagine in what sort of mood these two young peoply went through dinner, and how disturbed that kind-hearted, sensitive and sentimental Mr. Mahan was, I don't think that any of the seismle movements were caught by the other people, but I am easily affected by these things, ate nothing and was very hungry when arrived home. In all my half-waking dreams during the night the name of Mary Miller, which means nothing to me, was somehow associated with your name in my mind. So I am sending you his letter by hand to put you on your guard and to let you know that there must be some one in our Quaker Hill community who is burrowing. If, my dear Margaret, you have hidden anything, I think you'd better dig it up and hide it again. I don't know why I say this or what Mary Miller is to you. I am just obeying an impulse. But there is that startling element of intuition in my pen which, according to the psychological novellst, belongs exclusively to women. (It doesn't. There are some men who have it to a far greater degree. The milliner man and the palmist, for instance.) That's all. My love to you. Frankle."

The Thanksgiving number of The Atlantian, for the month of November was issued Wednesday, and lives up fully to its motto: "Pull for Atlanta or Pull Out."

The Atlantian takes a very sane stand upon the problem of labor and capital urging that they jointly bear the brunt of falling markets rather than attempting to, shift the loss wholly upon the shoulders of one side.

Under the caption, "A Bigger City," the folly of working for an increase of population without sound and constructive work for better social conditions in general is pointed out. The statement is made that "if we make a better city its growth will take care of itself."

The paper strongly indorses the World's Fair for 1925 and an immediate increase in pay for school teachers. It also advocates the making of a new congressional district of Fulton county that the representative may not represent the dual interests of agricultural and industrial classes.

An excellent collection of witty sayings and jokes are included in this month issue. Mrs. J. W. Conway is spending Thanksgiving with her mother in Alabama Debut Luncheon For Miss Evins.

For Miss Evins.

Pretty girls and lovely young matrons, in their winter velvets and satins and furs, were the guests of Mrs. Samuel Nesbit Evins at luncheon yesterday, this event one of the series of parties for Miss Janet Evins to mark her first season as a young lady.

The occasion was one of beautiful appointment, the tables, seating small groups, set in the dining room and adjoining apartments, and everywhere there was luxury of yellow chrysanthemums, their color repeated in details of the service of a delicious luncheon.

Mrs. Evins wore a becoming gown of gray charmeuse and lace. The pretty debutante was gowned in taupe charmeuse embroidered in beads.

Miss Stephens Entertains.

One of the prettiest of the Thanksgiving season's afternoon parties was the bridge-tea given yesterday by Miss Evelyn Stephens in compliment to Miss Gertrude Wheless, of Savannah, the guest of Miss Dorothy Bates.

concern for the problems that confront the nation, and especially those that immediately affect the south.

"As an aid to the solution of pressing financial problems I verily believe that I could not wish a better thing, for Georgia than the prompt union of every bank in the state with the federal reserve system. The fact that every national hank already belongs and enjoys the financial fellowship should encourage all their neighbors to join.

"The leaders of the Federal Reserve bank are only human and therefore they may make mistakes. I frankly think they have. But the principles underlying this great system are governmentally sound. If mistakes have been made let the six hundred non-member banks in Georgia come in and help correct them. They would have their proportional voice.

"Evidently some reconstruction measures will soon be adopted, but the Federal Reserve bank which was organized primarily to prevent Wall street manipulations of the nation's finances and which carried the country so successfully through the shock and strain of the world war, carries within it the inherent qualities of general financial emancipationion. It would be a great inspiration to other states if it could be announced that all the banks of Georgia had joined the great federal reserve system. It would buttress a sane and wholesome, governmental purpose and give a new meaning to that old truism: 'In upfon there is strength.'" at the clubhouse on Washington street.

The handsome ball room was decorated with stately palms and yellow chrysanthemums. Love's orchestra of fifteen members furnished the musical program.

There were 250 guests present to enjoy this event. Mr. S. S. Selig is president of the club. Mr. Leo Strauss was chairman of the entertainment committee, and those who assisted him were Mr. B. L. Fox. Mr. Arthur Wosser. Mr. Joe Frietag, and Mr. Harry Katz.

Thanksgiving

TODAY is the three hundredth Thanksgiving in America. A continuance of that first celebration by the Pilgrims in 1620.

When we think of the dangers gone through and the hardships overcome by that sturdy little band of patriots three hundred years ago, we realize the greatness of the spirit of our people.

The spirit of 1620 has been kept alive through succeeding years, and the standard of Service and Loyalty made immortal by a faithful few is being held on high today by countless millions.

On this anniversary of the First Thanksgiving this institution will observe this day with a deep feeling of gratitude for the many blessings of a great people.

Mrs. Albert Thornton. Sr., president of the city federation of clubs, was the guest of honor, and delighted the members of the club by giving an especially interesting talk. She spoke of the approach of Uncle Remus' birthday on December 9, also of the author's grove in Piedmont park and the "clean-up" campaign soon to be launched in the city.

Mrs. W. H. Preston, as leader, gave a beautiful program on "Puritan Days." Extracts and scenes from "The Courtship of Miles Standish's were given and greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. Sullivan sang most sweeting. "Lord of the Blue-Sky Water." Mrs. Edwin Helbig, president, presided at Tuesday's meeting.

On Friday. December 3, the club members will hold an all-day, sewing at the home of Mrs. J. E. Whiteman, 82 West End avenue.

For Miss Andews.

Miss Mary Andrews, a bride-elect, was honor guest at a bridge-tea yesterday afternoon, at the Atlanta Womans' club, the hostess of the occasion being Mrs. Capers Andrews.

Tea was served in the palm room, and the central decoration was a French basket filled with yellow and white chrysanthemums, the handle of the basket tied with a yellow tulle bow. Silver candlesticks and held yellow mints.

A Madeira card table cover was presented Miss Andrews, while two hand-made handkerchiefs and a lingerie bow of pink ribbon was given as top and consolation prizes.

Mrs. John Andrews wore black satin, heavily embroidered with beads, and a black hat.

Miss Mary Andrews was gowned in black chiffon velvet trimmed with ermine fur and a black velvet hat. Forty guests were entertained.

Mrs. Andrews was gowned in charmeuse, embridered with beads, and a picture hat of brown velvet. She was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. B. J. Adams, of Cleveland, Ohlo; Mrs. R. P. Brooks, of Forsyth: Miss Thelma Collins, of Dallas, Texas, and Miss Dorothy Dean, of Gainesville.

How Men of Atlanta Can

Become Good Housekeepers

The most practical plans are being passed on through the ward committees of the City Federation of Women's clubs, in the effort of the men and women to make Atlanta permanently a cleaner city, and the slogan now is "Clean your own premises and your neighbor will do the rest." It is a well known fact that it makes no matter how good a housekeeper is, or how bad she is, she does not like to have any, one remind her about her housekeeping, or even advise her about it, for whether she keeps a good house or not every woman believes she knows how to do it, and that nobody can tell her anything she does not already know. For that reason Mrs. R. M. Striplan has compiled, with the assistance of J. T. Robinson, of the Community Service department, Chamber of Commerce, a series of recommendations which are published today that all the men of the community may see them, and know all the little things about keeping premises clean. The Recommendations Are:

Miss Ruth Crusselle, the attractive young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Crusselle, of Atlanta, who is attending Randolph-Macon college, has been chosen as toast-mistress at the Thanksgiving dinner which will be given today in the West hall at Randolph-Macon Woman's college in Lynchburg, Va.

This is a te-centenary celebration of the Ianding of the Pilgrim Fathers at Plymouth Rock, November, 1620, and the program is made up to include a representative from every class attending the college. Dr. Anderson, president of Randelnh-Macon, is also to take part.

Miss Crusselle is president of West Hall, and is responsible for the Cripline of 115 girls who are under her student care. She is also one of the vice presidents of the student government board of the college. Her record is of the highest representation, and she is among the most popular girls enrolled there from Atlanta. The alumni is est representation, and she is among the most popular girls enrolled there from Atlanta. The alumni is building as a gift to Randolph-Macon an administrative building which, when finished, will be one of the handsomest in the south.

There are four halls at present, including East, West, Main and New.

For Miss Reid.

Miss Mary Reid returned yester-day from Athens, where she has been enrolled at school at Lucy Cobb, and will be honor guest at a buffet supper given Friday evening by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wil-liam W. Reid, at their home on Rosedale road, in Druid Hills. The guests will include Miss Har-riet Rhodes, Miss Mary Tate Holland, of Marietta; Miss Betty Putnam.

ARE WOMEN NATURALLY DESPONDENT

A prominent writer so claims. Women are constituted with a delicate organism and in nine cases out of ten mental depression may be attributed to an abnormal condition of the system, which expresses itself in nervousness, sleeplessness, backaches, headaches, causing constant misery and as a result lessness, backaches, headaches, causing constant misery and as a result tespondency. Brilliant Dinner-Dance Given

The dinner dance last evening at the Capital City club marked one of the most brilliant occasions of the Thanksgiving season, and a company of over three hundred guests were present.

Dinner was served in the ballroom at 8 o'clock, and Chase's orchestra rendered the bright musical program.

The walls and mantels were veiled and banked with vari-tinted autumn leaves, while yellow pom-pom chrysanthemums placed in baskets and in plateau effect adorned the tables. The favors presented to the guests were suggestive of the Thanksgiving season, while noise-

The Holiday Season Is a Good Time to Watch a Dollar at Play

URING the Christmas season, many, many dollars are withdrawn from Savings Accounts and SPENT. We do not say they are ILL SPENT, because they purchase happiness which comes with Christmas Giving and Receiving. But it is a good time to figure how little the dollar amounts to when it is not at work.

DOLLARS IN OUR MONEY MILL earn more dollars. If you have a sufficient number of dollars at work, so that their earnings permit you to spend and still retain a nucleus of BUSY DOLLARS, you spend with comfort, secure in the knowledge that you have not entirely exhausted your reserve.

You can only attain that point by systematically putting DOLLARS TO WORK every week, two weeks or each month as your pay days arrive.

The Lowry National Bank takes a great deal of pleasure in watching the growing numbers of Busy Dollars coming to the Money Mill each day. We realize that it means the prosperity of the community and the prosperity of the community is close to our hearts.

JUST HUMAN.

Until a short time ago High Cost of Living was blamed for practically all of the people's worries and troubles.

The butcher, the baker, the grocer, the clothier, the hardware man, the druggist, the farmer, all in turn denounced him, and declared him to be the cause of all the trouble that seemed to afflict mankind.

He was kicked at and cussed by everybody, and all, including the 'ultimate consumer," longed for the return of Pre-War Prices.

At last prices begun to turn to the pre-war basis, but in the very places where H. C. L. had been so vociferously berated, nobody welcomed the newcomer.

Nobody bid him to the fireside. The tradesmen and the farmer howl at him! "Go away! You're running our business!"

After all, it illustrates human

The average man does not know what he wants, and generally when he gets what he is after, he wants something else. A year ago everybody was kicking about high prices. Now that prices are tumbling, they kick that the fall is coming too fast.

And some of these days when pre-war prices come again many will be the man who will refer to the "good old days of high prices, big wages, and general prosperity," and sigh for their return. It's "just human."

INEXCUSABLE WASTE.

Any private business corporation hat would apply to its affairs such slipshod, devil-may-care methods as some that have characterized the administration of the United States government in certain particulars, according to revelations that have recently been made public, would soon find itself in the bankruptcy court; and, more than that, those responsible would be popularly adjudged fit subjects for a lunacy asylum.

Suppose, for example, one branch of a great private corporation, finding that it had a large quantity of cement for which it had no use, sold it to an outside bidder for a nominal sum just to get rid of it; then, that another branch of the corporation, finding that it needed that cement, bought t back for six times the amount for which the company had sold it. What would such a transaction indicate, as to the business mangement of the company? And that would the stockholders think and probably do-about it? Yet that, according to the an-Chamberlain, inspector general of blessings. the army, is precisely what was one not long ago within the reatest corporation on this contient-the United States govern- the "deceased" league to live tar-

One department, says the report, und, at the conclusion of the war, hat it had a lot of surplus cement. t sold the material for $1 a ton o a civilian, who subsequently old it back to the governmentor use by the war departmentor $6 a ton, pocketing $5 profit! Just now the government is assing through a general unloadg process—disposing of vast intities of materials and equipent that were purchased during he war, but for which it now has o further need, at least in the epartments for which the original rchases were made. But surely a measure of busiapplied to the process; and the government might make sure that t has no use for what it owns before disposing of it at a sacrifice, perhaps later on to repurchase it for use in another department

General Chamberlain recom mends revision of the present method of disposing of surplus government stores "to prevent speculators from buying federal roperty from one department and reselling to another branch of the government at a higher figure," and his recommendation certainly is timely.

The government has lost millions, if not billions, of dollars through its haphazard and unsystematic methods of doing business and through the lack of co-operation among the various bureaus and departments.

Under war conditions, of course, there was no time to be wasted in bargaining with dispensers of supplies and commodities that were needed, or that might be needed. in the prosecution of the war; ence, there was a measure of excuse for the extravagant and wasteful cost-plus system, for lump purchases of enormous supplies at profiteering prices, etc.

But now there is time for deliberation and the exercise of common sense and an ordinary degree of business prudence in the unloading of surplus stores.

There is no reason why the government should not be as careful of its stockholders'-the American people's-interests as is the wellmanaged private business corporation in readjusting its affairs and methods from a war to a peacetime basis.

Particularly in this transitory period of readjustment, when economy is the watchword, and when Uncle Sam is persistently urging the exercise of thrift on the part of the people, the government could do nothing better than to follow its own precept and apply the spirit of economy and thrift and business sagacity to its own business transactions.

HOW ABOUT BACON?

The bottom seems to have fallen out of the pork market.

According to the Associated Press, the top price on hogs at the National Stock Yards, East St. Louis, Ill, is $10.35 per hundred. the lowest since December 19. 1916, when the top was $10.30 a hundred.

In August, 1919, the top price of hogs was reached, when $23.55 was paid on a market that was scantily supplied.

On November 23, 1920, on account, said the dispatches, of "large shipments and lowering prices of feed," hogs were selling at $13.20 below the peak quotations of fifteen months ago.

But how about bacon? The housewife will soon begin to ask questions about this. With the farmers disposing of their hogs at sacrifice prices; with the market oversupplied, and with pork selling on the hoof for less than half of what it sold for a year ago, she will naturally wonder why it is that bacon and hams and "white meat" and spareribs are still selling over the butcher's counter at prices not appreciably different from those that were fixed under last year's conditions and attributed to the high price of live hogs.

She will be within her rights in asking for an explanation-or else for a lowering of the price of

NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS AND VISION.

The near-sighted eye is too long from front to back. It is often determined by a skull shape which is ong from front to back. The Teutonic skull is that shape and near-sightedness is therefore common in persons of Teutonic nativity. The Indian and negro skulls are rather short from front to back, and in these races near-sightedness is rare.

Far-sightedness may be compensated to a certain degree by strain ing to focus the eyesight, but there is no way in which the near-sighted eye can overcome its deficiency, save by artificial lenses. By squinting the lids, so that some of the marginal rays of light are excluded, the near-sighted may make vision slightly clearer, but only slightly.

Near-sightedness tends to progress from bad to worse from year to year, up to the age of twenty to twenty-five years, when it general-ly does not show further increase. If the child is carefully treated

If the child is carefully treated from the earliest discovery of the defect of vision, which is usually around the age of seven or eight years, fairly good vision will be retained throughout life. If the near-sightedness is not recognized and properly treated the eyes may undergo grave changes which may threaten vision itself. By proper treatment I mean the regular care and advice of the ocu-list. When the oculist has meas-ured the child's vision and consider-ed the child's individual require-ments he will prescribe the proper lenses and instruct the child or parents as to the care of the eyes. Drifting like some wrecked vessel, A number of young persons write me and ask whether it will not be better for them to leave off their glasses part of the time, although they are near-sighted and cannot see clearly without the glasses. They harbor a notion that they should "exercise" the eye, and that the constant use of glasses will somehow "weaken the sight." Both of these ideas are groundless in any case, and in the case of near-sightedness it is very bad policy to omit the glasses at any time when the eyes are to be used. The glasses save the eyes.

Near-sightedness is never "outgrown." Well, for that matter, no other anatomical defect or disease is ever outgrown.

PARENTS WILL LET YOUTHFUL BANDITS REMAIN IN PRISON

Although many of Atlanta's citizens, moved to symapthy for the Minneapolis "boy bandits" now held under $5,000 bond at Fulton tower, under charges of robbery, as the result of holding up two drug stores, have offered to go on their bond, it has been decided by the parents of Stuart Taylor, after a conference with Douglas & Douglas, their attorneys, that the best thing that can be for the present done for the boys is to allow them to remain in jail. A touching letter, expressive of a mother's faith in her son, was delivered young May by Mrs. Taylor, shortly after arrival of herself and husband in Atlanta. The letter is as follows:

Galli-Curci Here For Her Concert Thursday Night

Amelita Galli-Curci, most famous of women singers, arrived in Atlanta last night in her private car, coming from New York especially for her concert at the Auditorium tonight. With her came Manuel Berenguer, the flute soloist who accompanies her in her flights into the upper register, and Homer Samuels, her piano accompanist and the composer of many successful songs, several of which are in Mme.

the composer of many successive songs, several of which are in Mme. Galli-Surci's repertoire. There was a made-to-order, gabie-ended trunk which held the seven Parisian gowns from which the prima donna chooses her concert costumes—gowns which are the very latest word in French fashion, they say, and there was also a maid.

Lawrence Evans, of the Evans-Salter Musical bureau, came with Mme. Galli-Curci from New York and will go on with her to Chicago, where she will open her opera engagement next week. He and Jack Salter, who has been here several days, are the young Atlantans who were honored last summer by Mme. Galli-Curci by an invitation to manage her American concert tours, replacing one of the most famous concent managers in the country.

"We have been very successful," said Mr. Evans. "That's no credit to us, however, for 'the Madame' would fill every seat in any house in any city in the country. Our only difficulty has been in choosing from the hundreds of offers we have received from as many cities—for Galli-Curci will not overwork herself.

Mme. Galli-Curci is feeling entire-received from as many cities—for Galli-Curci will not overwork herself.

Mme. Galli-Curci is feeling entirely fresh and happy, for we had a comfortable journey, and she is glad to have a whole night and day ahead of her before her concert. She is immensely pleased at the big audience she is to have, for the Auditorium here is of exceptional size, and she has not the dread of the house which she expressed when she first saw it two years ago, for she knows now what excellent accustic properties it ass, and that she will not be called upon to sacrifice delicacy of tone in straining for power, something she positively declines to do."

There were still many seats remaining last night at the store of the Cable Plano company, but Jack Salter, in charge of the sale, said he was confident very few would remain by the hour of the concert. If any are left, the sale will be transferred at 7 o'clock to the Auditorium box office. The prices range from $1.50 to $2.50 the seat.

REPORTS ARE MADE BY LOCAL EXPERTS IN SHEPARD CASE

At no time since the initiation of the probe into the alleged poisoning of Frederick D. Shepard, wealthy Houston county peach grower, has the case been so completely shrouded in mystery as it appears following the reports of chemical and pathological findings by Dr. Edgar Everhart and Dr. John Funke, rendered to Solicitor General Charles H. farrett on Tuesday and Wednesday, espectively. Dispatches from Macon state that the solicitor general is in receipt of another letter from Charles M. Durrance, Jacksonville attorney for Dr. and Mrs. F. Eugene Elmer, declaring that Mrs. Elmer, former wife of Shepard, stands ready to come to Fort Valley for the coroner's inquest expected to be resumed on Saturday. The solicitor is said to have intimated that nothing could be gained by bringing the Elmers to the inquest which is taken to indicate that he has receded from his former determination to request them to come.

the council secretariat to override the assembly.

The committees, subcommittees and steering committees of the assembly.

The council of the league were all in session today, but beyond the announcement of the council's decision in the Armenia case and that regarding the Viina expedition little could be learned of what was accomplished.

Admission of Austria.

It is understood the committees on arguments, new members and amendments practically decided to report as follows: No amendments this session and no general disarmament until conditions have become more settled in eastern Europe and execution of the peace treaties is assured.

The admission of Austria, Bulgaria, Luxembourg and Finland to membership and postponement of action on other applications.

It is pointed out today by some delegations that the speed shown by these committees in getting on with their work may mean prolonged discussions when their reports come before the assembly as the committees may decide by a majority vote while that of the assembly must be unanimous.

The question of amendments, notably promises further debate, as the Scandinavians do not accept the report of the amendments committee and will fight it on the floor. Of the most important subjects on the agenda there remain the economic blockade, the international court, mandates and the relations between the council of the league and the assembly. The last named subject is expected to give rise to the sharpest contention. It involves discussion of the proposition of Honorio Pueyrredon, of Argentina, that all members of the council be elected by the assembly, which might take control of the council from the powers who, under the treaty of Versailles, were given five out of the nine members of the council to be appointed by themselves.

Projects for an international

Proposes International Staff.

Projects for an international staff, proposed by Leon Bourgeois of France at the Versailles conference and rejected there, were reviewed here yesterday in a prolinged discussion regarding the reduction of armaments

M. Bourgeois, first of all, declared that the carrying out of the Versailles treaty must be assured before disarmament was possible. He declared that in order to make that treaty effective, some military organization such as he had proposed at the peace conference was required.

Details of this discussion made at the peace conference was required.

Details of this discussion made known late last night indicated that the sentiment prevails in the committee on disarmament that it is impossible to secure at present a general scrapping of war materials. On the other hand, Signor Schanzer, an Italian member, pointed out the danger to the league in the disappointment of the masses if nothing should be done.

There is some uncertainty relative to the admission of Luxembourg and Finland to the league, but it is said that it is probable that they may be invited to join by a majority of the delegates. Montenegro's eleventh hour application has not as yet been discussed and sentiment would appear to indicate that Albania may not be admitted.

To Propose Amendments.

Notwithstanding the decision of committee No. 1, on general organization, yesterday, which ruled that there should be no amendments to the covenant of the league at this session of the assembly, some proposed amendments will be brought up again by the Swiss delegation. The flelegation will ask the committee on general organization to consider a proposition to choose

The delegation will ask the committee on general organization to consider a proposition to choose the four election members of the council from among different states successively, ith only one term expiring each year. The Swiss representatives, with the support of Scandinavian delegates, will also ask the same committee to report a proposition for fixed meetings of the assembly

Antonio Huneus, chief of the Chilean representatives and chairman of the committee on admission of new states, told the Associated Press last night that he has the best of impressions regarding the progress of the assembly, and expressed his confidence that the result of the present meeting will be fruitful Senor Huneus declared he expected the attitude of the United States toward the league would be defined soon after the new senate meets, and he thinks the decision will be to come into the league rather than "frustrate the greatest effort humanity has ever made to assure its own preservation."

In connection with the application of Montenegro for admission

In connection with the applica-tion of Montenegro for admission into the league of nations, it may be borne in mind that the Montebe borne in mind that the Montenegrin parliament late in 1918 declared for the merging of Montenegro with the kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, usually known as Jugo-Slavia. King Nicholas, of Montenegro, however, refused to recognize the act as valid, and claims have been freely made by Montenegrin representatives that the people as a whole were being subjected to Serbian domination, these statements meeting emphatic denial by the Serbians The Montenegrin so-called overnment has existed since the war only at Neuilly, a suburb of Parls, where Nicholas has made his headquarters

Germany's protest against the method adopted by the league of nations in awarding mandates over former German colonies was expected to come before the assembly. Delegate Millen, of Australia, yesterday introduced a resolution that the protest be laid before the assembly before being referred to a committee and a discussion was decided upon.

Amendments to the covenant of the league will not come before this session of the society, it has been decided. The league, as it is at present working, has not had time to fully show defects in the covenant, and a special committee will be charged with a study of the league's operations and asked to propose any necessary amendments at the next meeting

For several years Tech has talked away with the game, but ast year, in a memorable season of meets, the Tigers romped away fith the tilt to the tune of 14 to 7. Their return to town today is going be watched by hundreds of grid athusiasts all over the country and he big question seems to be: "Can hey repeat?"

the big question seems to be: "Can they repeat?"

To this question the Tech rooters and supporters are all unanimous in chorusing: "No!" and there is not a one of them but that feels the Golden Tornado is due for a victory this afternoon by a very comfortable margin. Undoubtedly Tech has one of the great elevens of the country today and there are very, very few teams anywhere that can get away with a victory over the Jackets on their own home grounds. That the team which held the mighty Panthers scoreless for three quarters, swamped Vandy, Centre and Georgetown will be conquered by Auburn seems unlikely, to say the least, and because of the wonderful record and morale of the Golden Tornado, the Tech rooters can't see anything but Tech.

On the other hand Auburn is coming to Atlanta confident of repeating their 1919 performance. Just ten days ago they hopped on the Generals from Washington and Lee and administered one of the worst defeats that team has suffered in all its history. The 77 to 0 score speaks for itself. Then when the same team of Generals turned around last Saturday and whipped the Georgetown eleven 16 to 7, it all helped the Auburn stock considerably.

Goodbye, Buck and Bill.

An interesting feature of the game will be the fact that Buck Flowers and Bill Fincher are playing their last game of football for Georgia Tech this afternoon, having performed for their allotted span of years under the S. I. A. A. rules. The records of these two men have been hrilliant ones and their services to the Golden Tornados have been invaluable. Bill was captain now. Buck and Bill both made All-Southern picks in '17, '18 and '19 and are certainly due for a place on the best team of the south again this champion of the world, will arrive n Atlanta this morning and will complete his training for the match for the title with Jake Abel, the local favorite, on next Monday night at the Auditorium. This is the first time that a title affair has been held in this civ in any the first time that a title affair has been held in this ciy in any class, and a record-breaking attendance is expected.

McDonald received a wire from Dan Morgan, Jack's manager, that he and Britton, with a trainer and sparring partner, will arrive on Turkey day just' in time for a hearty Thanksgiving meal, after which Britton will go into the grind so that all will be ready when the opening gong sounds Monday, Jack comes to the city with the grim determination to give young Abel the hardest fight of his career and he, will leave no stone unturned to be in the best possible condition for the fray.

Abel has been in training now for some time and he states that he is rapidly rounding into perfect trim. He is taking a long run each morning and each afternoon goes through two or three hours of fighting with three of Atlanta's boxers. Battling Budd, Young Sober and Billy Hooper are giving Jake all that he is looking for Jake states that they are affording him some fine workouts and are developing his speed and endurance which he will need in his fight with the kingpin of them all.

Few Reverses.

During Britton's ring career he If the Tornado wins today they will not only have claim to the southern championship title, but will southern championship title, but will have a strangle hold on the same thing up in the South Atlantic conference. Tech walloped Georgetown, Auburn smothered W. and L., and Center sacked V. P. I. 24 to 0. The lone undefeated team of the conference is the V. M. I. cadets and should they go down in defeat today at the hands of their ancient rivals, V. P. I., the Tech team will have a claim on everything of a gridiron nature south of the Mason and Dixon line. During Britton's ring career he has had very few reverses and has fought the best that have come to the front during his fifteen years of ring work. He started his career back in 1905 when he fought eleven bouts. He won the decision in two of the fights, while the others were no-decision affairs. From then on he met such men as Leo Houck, Kid Farmer, Tommy O'Keefe, Harry Stone, Charlie White and Packy McFarland.

The more recent opponents of the present champion include Tod-Kid Lewis, Benny Leonard, Johnny Griffiths and others, too numerous to mention. During his whole career he was never defeated by a knockout, and this stamps him as one of nature south of the Mason and Dixon line.

The gates for the game will be opened this afternoon at 12:30 o'clock and the box offices at the field opened at that time. By an hour after this time a throng of 10,000 will be there, and waiting for the fray to start; by 2:00 p. m. every single seat will be taken and the greatest game of the year under way. There will be room enough for all those who wish to take in the game and the possibilities of anyone being turned away at the box offices without tickets are very, very slim. Few Reverses.

will not be admitted free to the fight, inasmuch as he had to post such a large guarantee to bring Britton to Atlanta to fight for the championship. This will be the most expensive card that McDonald has promoted and a record crowd is expected.

The details of the rest of the card are now being worked out and they will be announced as soon as they are completed. It is thought that Stanley Meeghan and Jimmy Conway will be brought together in the semi-windup affair for a tenround bout. There will be an eightround fight, and a battle royal will fill out the bill. Tickets for the matches can be obtained at the Rex, Chess' pace and Oppenheim's cigar store opposite the Piedmont hotel.

Pittsburg and Penn State will fight out the most important issue in the eas. comorrow afternoon and the content of the con witness the close of the 1920 football season, although on December 4 Boston college and Holy Cross wil meet in the Bay State capital. Pittsburg and Penn State will fight out the most important issue in the east comorrow afternoon and their game should be a corker. Last year Penn defeated Pitt, but former years the Panthers have rather had the whip hand. This year both have good teams—undefeated as yet—and are pointing for this contest to see which shall share honors, on the basis of the record in the east with Harvara and Princeton. If one studies the scores of the two elevens, it would seem that Penn State possessed something of an advantage, and should go into the game a favorite.

Each team has a star in the backfield, Pittsburg in Tom Davis and Penn State in Way but Penn else field, Pittsburg in Tom Davis and Penn State in Way, but Penn also Penn State in Way, but Penn also has another man who approaches Way's caliber in the person of Haines. Even though Pittsburg has the heavy line plunging Hewitt, it is doubtful whether he is quite such an asset as Haines. Pitt has, though, a star in its center, Stein. He is one of the best men in this position in the country! stein. He is one of the best men in this position in the country!

All in all, the Pitt-Penn game is the most important one on the calendar for Thanksgiving dayl, and whichever team wins will come

Auburn-Tech. equal importance in the Georgia Tech-Alabama Poly contest at At-lanta. Georgia Tech will go in somewhat the favorite, although Alabama Poly defeated it last year by 14 to 7. Atlanta will see a battle of giants. in the south and a special star in Shirling in the backfield. It was a bitter pill for Georgia Tech to s: allow when it went down to defeat before Auburn, and it means feat before Auburn, and it means to wipe out that sting this year. The Yellow Jackets have, in Flowers and Barron, remarkable back field men, and in Fincher, a former end, who now is playing tackle, a star in either place. The Thanksgiving classic—from the standpoint of tradition—will be the Penn-Cornell game at Philadelphia, but both these teams have been defeated and there consequently is a lessening of interest

Penn, the game will be particularly interesting.

Army-Navy.

Next Saturday will see the Army-1 vy contest at the Polo grounds and their struggle, of course, overshadows all else. Boston college is slated, though, to meet Georget wn at Boston, and this should be a rattling good fight. Dartmouth will be out on the Pacific coast to play Washington at Seattle. The game will be important because it is intersectional, but Dartmouth is a decided favorite.

This year finds the Army-Navy elevens more unknown quantities than ever before. The Army took a bad beating at the hands of Notre Dame, but it must be realized that there are very few teams that can cope with this middle western outfit. The Navy went down to defeat early in the season when it met North Carolina State. Recently, however, both teams have been coming along rapidly, and the Navy's defeat of Georgetown was quite impressive. There is plenty of good, husky material at both institutions. French, of the Army, stands out quite as the commanding figure because of his really great work in the back field, and the fact that he was known as a class man when at Rutgers. He is fast and powerful—a menace to any opposing team. Of course, there are plenty of other good men, both at Annapolis and West Point, but none in the class of French. Next to the latter probably is Wilkie, the Navy guard, and Breidster, the giant of the Army line. Wilkie has a good mate in Moore, All told, though, it looks like pretty much of an even break. The Navy will have to stop French, while the Army will have to cope with the high speed attack that characterized the Navy's play last year and won the game for the midshipmen.

Realization that the forward pass

Realization that the forward pass is a potent, powerful weapon of attack means that in the final games of the season we probably shall see many startling developments in the aerial game. Teams that are behind will doubtlessly resort to the pass with its tremendous ground-gaining possibilities.

The day is fast approaching when the 1920 season of the grand old game will be forced to close. Just two more days to talk prep football, then Boys' High and Tech High will ring down the curtain with their annual game.

Grant field will be the scene of the lively combat. Before the dust raised by the Tech-Auburn game has had time, to clear away, the two local high school teams will go into action. The game will be called at 2 o'clock. Saturday afternoon. The extra stands built by Tech will come in very handy for the prep fans. Everybody can get standing room at least.

Everybody can get standing room at least.
Yesterday witnessed the last scrimmage for the two teams, as neither of the coaches intends to run any risk. The rest of the week will be devoted mostly to signal practice. From all appearances, both elevens are in the best of shape. Boys' High has her whole heart and soul in the coming game, and a victory over Tech High would clear her record of defeats for the season. The Purple and White team intends to give the Smithies their hardest game of the season. Coach David is pleased with the spirit of his team for the coming encounter. Practice has turned into pleasure for the Gilmer street lads when they think of what it would mean to post a defeat on their old rivals.

the hardest blow a Smithie team has ever suffered.

The scores of the games between these two teams show that the game has been a tight one ever since the prep league has been organized, with the exception of 1913, when the Smithies gained a 42-to-0 verdict over Boys' High. In that year Tech High swept the state with her onslaught, annexing the state rag with no difficulty. It is no wonder, when the line-up of the Smithies in that years is carefully considered, the two most remembered figures being Bill Fincher and Jim Bedell.

With the team the Smith have on the field this year paying the high class of football that they are capable of putting forth. Boys' High is in for a worse drubbing than the one handed them in 1913. But you can never tell until the battle is over what the score will be, and many a time a strong team has fallen before a much weaker one. Regardless of the old dope, the game will be well worth the price of admission.

Athens, Ga., November 24 .- (Special.)—Georgia plays her last game of the 1920 season, when the Red and Black meets the eClemson Tigers on Sandford field Thursday afternoon. Georgia is set for the fray and everything in the way of weather conditions and attendance is ideal. Their mainstay in the line is Lightsey at tackle, who was all-southern pick last year by Coach Heisman of Tech. Lightsey will line up oposite Artie Pew, and will have his hands full handling the big Georgia tackle. The stars in the Clemson backfield are Allison and Captain Armstrong. Both of these men are old heads at the game, and will probably be the best performers for the Tigers. NEWS AND REVIEW CONSTITUTION'S FI

More Irregularity Is Shown in Stocks

New York, November 24.-There was an irregular opening of the stock market today, then a break followed by continued irregularity. After the decline of the past three weeks with only the recovery of early this week, the market acts very much like there were more sore spots to be relieved before there can be a healthy upward price move-

Today's budget of news contained developments both favorable and unfavorable. Extra dividends were declared by two companies, one of them Great Northern Paper, which will distribute $3 in addition to the regular quarterly payment of $1.50. One company unexpectedly declared a 50 per cent stock dividend, On the other side of the picture President Byram of St. Paul stated after today's directors meeting that the company had been unable to arrange for payment of $25,334,000 5 per cent bonds maturing January 1, and hoped to get aid from the government, railroad revolving fund. As to this there is not the slightest doubt but that aid will be given if the company does not succeed in financing its own needs. Only yesterday the Interstate Commerce Commission stated that the railroads of good credit which were unable to borrow needed money at less than 61/2 per cent were entitled under the new law to get assistance from the revolving fund.

Peerless Truck Reduces Dividends.

Another interesting news development of the day was the reduction of $1.25 cents to 75 cents of dividends by the Peerless Motor Truck Co. Then came the Iron Age's weekly review stating that more shut downs by independents were expected. It was added that the feeling in the steel and iron trade was that buying was not expected in any large quantity until readjustment had taken place which ingeneral wage reductions. Further cancellations of orders in finished steel products was reported, and the belief that buying by automobile and agricultural manufacturers was not expected for 4 or 5 months to come shares of new stock to finance inventory.

President Rosenwald of Sears Roebuck & Co. after stating that November sales show a substantial increase over those of two years ago went on record today with the prediction that after prices become normal, that is after there has been a readjustment from a war to a peace time basis in the cost of production as well as in the cost to the ultimate consumer, this country will enter the greatest era of prosperity in its history.

Investors Steady Buyers.

With all of the forced liquidation that has been going on in the stock market there has been steady buying by investors. This information comes from absolutely reliable banking quarters here at Philadelphia, Chicago and elsewhere. Some of this buying, especially in seasoned dividend railroad shares has been "at the market" and some on a scale down. Railroad stocks which have been receiving dividends without a miss for a generation or more are now selling at prices offering an income return of 8 per cent or more. There has been discriminating buying too in industrial shares

Because of the drop in the price of copper, it is now down to a new low record of 14 cents a pound or below pre-war level. Good copper stocks are being quietly accumulated. One banker who keeps close touch with industrial affairs stated today in discussing the investment opportunities now to be found in the stock market that because of the shrinkage in stock market values since the armistice was signed good copper companies could now be purchased at a cash outlay of less than represented on current assets. That is these companies could be purchased and their current asets sold for more than the purchase price of the entire property.

Dupont Securities Exchanged.

Those who turned the General Motors stock taken over from Durant into the new Dupont Securities Corporation formed last Monday got only $7 a share in cash and the balance in the securities of the Dupont Securities Corporation. As a market must be made for the new Dupont Securities this means a long wait for some people.

During the first ten days of this month our gold imports aggregated $18,318,000, whereas our exports for the same period amounted to only $12,037,000 according to figures just given out by the Federal Reserve Board at Washington. From January 1 to November 10 our gold imports were $333 836,000, whereas our exports were $297,300,000. On Monday of this week the Acquitania brought in $5,000,000 in gold. Today the Olympic brought in $5,000,000. The Lapland is now on her way with $$3,756,000 gold abroad of which $2,700,000 is for the acount of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and the balance for the Federal Reserve bank. More gold is expected to come in from Europe a large part of which will be the ear marked metal obtained from Germany.

Call money renewed again today at 6 per cent for the second time within a year.

Shareholders of the American Cigar Co. met today and approved

Childs' Restaurants Prospering.

The Childs' restaurants evidently are prospering with the reduction in the wholesale prices of foodstuffs. That company today declared its regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent on the common stock with an extra 1/2 of 1 per cent.

increase in stock of from $10,000,000 to $50,000,000. Of the $4, 000,000 new issue, $5,000,000 will be given to the shareholders on December 15 as a 50 per cent stock dividend. St. Louis merchants and manufacturers have started a movement to prevent business stagnation and unemployment by inducing retailers to make purchases now for spring trade. It is hoped the movement will become country wide. Henry Evans, president of the Continental, Phoenix and American Eagle insurance companies will resign an December 15 to become the chairman of the board of directors of these companies. Evans who has been one of the active men in Wall street affairs for the past cade is giving up detail work.

A hearing of the Burlington shareholders who are opposed to the proposed dividends of $60,000,000 in stock and $80,000,000 in bonds will be given a hearing by the Interstate Commerce Commission on December 14.

The fact that both the American futures markets will be closed tomorrow had a restraining effect of fresh business, but probably stimulated some hedge selling in the late trading. Eastern belt points reported a better spot demand, with some inquiry from exporters, but there was not much news from southern spot markets. Exports today 15,137, making 1,554,955 so far this season. The cotton market itself is technically short, and these shorts must cover some time; forthermore, with spinners not buying except in anticipation of coming requirements the market has thus added buying force to count upon. WHEAT TUMBLES

Chicago, November 24.-Heavy selling pressure, much of it asscribed to a leading New York trader, led to a severe break to-day in wheat prices. Reports that 300,000 barrels of flour without financial backing had been vainly seeking a buyer at Philadelphia were made much of by the bears. The market closed unsettled, 73-4 to 91-4c net lower, with December $1.591-4@1.601-4 and March $1.543-4@1.55. Corn lost 21-8@ @21-2c and oats 7-8@11-4c. In provisions the outcome ranged from 15c decline to $2c advance.

In addition to reports of distress in the flour trade at Philadelphia, the wheat market was confronted by news of down turns in stocks and cotton as well as by word of a bank failure in one of the richest agricultural counties in Illinois. Sentiment which yesterday favored the bull side, reversed itself quickly and there was a general rush to unload wheat recently purchased. Before the ensuing declines were ended, March delivery was down again to the minimum reached Monday, the season's lowest. Export buying of large proportions developed on the break and caused a little recovery in the late dealings. Corn and oats sympathized with the weakness of wheat. Elevator interests, however, helped steady the market through extensive buying of December and May corn. In provisions demand from packers larger counter balanced the effect The market closed unsettled, 73-4 ing of December and May corn. In provisions demand from packers largefy counter balanced the effect of hog weakness. Besides Novem-ber lard appeared greatly wanted by shorts.

There's a difference

The difference between the common stock of a company that "is going to be" and the one that "is," and has a successful past record, is not always readily apparent to the investing

The public is usually offered common stock in companies that are being promoted to manufacture and market a new invention or idea. Such schemes are highly hazardous because they depend on too many factors for success. The integrity and ability of the management, margin of profit, cost of manufacture, marketability, proper financing and sales policies, and general conditions determine the success.or failure of newly-formed companies within from two to three years of their organization.

Only after a company has successfully passed its first crucial years can it be sure of a successful future. Only then can its common stock be considered a safe investment.

But, after this period of testing products and plans, building an organization, distributing connections and consumer demand is passed, and new capital becomes necessary for further expansion, the public is usually offered preferred stock or bonds bearing a small interest yield.

These securities, while reasonably safe, have no voting power, and do not share in the accumulated earnings or growing prosperity of a business.

So seldom is the public offered an opportunity to secure common stock in a company having thousands of dealers and a four-year successful record behind it, that, in justice to yourself, you cannot afford to lightly consider this invitation to become a common stockholder in this company.

secure the thousands of dealers that now sen Holfast Products would cost a newly formed company at least $300,000, and require over three years' time.

These reasons make an investment in the common capital stock of this company most desirable. You are assured of the safety of your investment and you share equally with other common stockholders all the future profits of the business.

Five shares may assure you a good living; ten, financial independence; while twenty may make you wealthy.

But, don't let this chance slip. Mail the Coupon Today have been better had the government, instead of preparing a detailed bill, started by laying down on broad lines the limits within which Ireland could have complete autonomy and the minimum which England must reserve for the security and safety not only of herself, but of Ireland.

He outlined this minimum as first, placing Ireland in precisely the same position with regard to foeign affairs as the great selfgoverning dom's lons, with the same right to be consulted about commercial treaties, and, second, only one army in these two islands. He would not, however, contemplate the maintenance of any imperial troops in Ireland after home rule had passed, unless Ireland desired it.

Urges Withdrawal.

Expressing indignation at the murders and anxiety for the lack of discipline of the crown forces, Viscount Grey declared that, unless the government could assume direct, real and effective control in Ireland, it would be better to withdraw the armed forces now. He wished the government to have all powers for punishing crime, but these powers must be exercised with real discretion and control, and if that were impossible the withdrawal was the better course.

impossible the withdrawal was the better course.
Voicing his doubt as to whether a constituent assemby or convention to settle the question was practicable now, and criticising the financial clauses of the bill, the speaker urged the government to try to amend the bill and make it more acceptable by more generosity regarding finance and by offering fiscal autonomy in the hope that it would bring about peace, instead of demanding peace as a condition of giving fiscal autonomy.

Co-operating Says Poole.

Co-operating Says Poole.

Chief Poole, of the detective force, told a Constitution reporter on Wednesday night, that "perfect co-operation exists between Solicitor Boykin and myself." In support of this statement he said that the solicitor has requested his assistance in apprehending members of the alleged "wire-tapping gang" not yet under arrest.

wire-tapping gang" not yet under arrest.

"I am ready at all times to assist the solicitor and give him any cooperation which is within my power. Today I notified him that my force is at his disposal whenever he may desire it." Chief Poole stated that he had within the past twelve months prosecuted four policemen and that he would always do so whenever he obtained evidence which revealed a failure in duty. "However," he said, "the broadcast attacks on the entire force cannot be true and I cannot help but resent them."

"Irene." the musical comedy that created a furore in New York, is proving the hit of the season this week at the Atlanta theater, where it will be seen again Friday and Saturday nights and Thursday and Saturday matinee. The seat sale indicates that this show will set a new attendance record for the present season.

There are twenty big song numbers in this musical offering and each has a catchy melody that make sone unconsclously hum the tunes after witnessing the performance. "Irene" was produced by the Vanderbilt Producing company, who present the piece in this city on the same costly scale and with a cast of musical comedy celebrities. supplemented by a chorus of singing beauties that characterized its presentation during the New York run.

There will be a special Thanksgiving

(At the Forsyth.)

If you want to see one of the best pictures that William S. Hart has ever given the screen see "The Cradle of Courage," at the Forsyth this week, for it's one of the real big productions of the year and a picture that will live long in the memory of all who see it.

"Behold My Wife."

(At the Rialto.)

Among the picture sensations of the month there is none that has created more favorable comment than George Medford's charming romance of the great north, "Behold My Wife." adapted from Sir Gilbert Parker's famous novel, "The Translation of a Savage," which is holding the screen at the Rialto for the entire week.

The cast is an all star one, and contains many of the most popular players before the camera today.

"The Street Called Straight"

but it was discontinued attention to until 1789, when Washington revived the custom for one year. Observance of the day is not again heard of until 1930, when the governor of New York issued a state proclamation, which was imitated by other governors of the east.

Thanksgiving day was unknown to the south before the year 1855, when Governor Johns, of Virginia, proposed to the state legislature that some day be set aside for that purpose. The suggestion was branded and killed as "a relic of Puritanical bigotry." But in 1857 Governor lise issued a proclamation without consulting anyone. The day was observed, for the first time in the south, with little or no criticism.

The civil war put an end to Thanksgiving celebrations for a time, but in 1864 Lincoln designated the last Thursday in the month of Tudor Theater-All week Dorothy Phillips in "Once to Every Woman," and other screen features.

ATLANTA TO GIVE THANKS THURSDAY

ently thanking the Delty for victory over that same country.

Few will realize that this 25th day of November has any significance beyond our national holiday, but it is also marked upon the Romish calendar as the day of St. Catherine and St. Erasmus. By chance only it is also the anniversary of the deaths of Lopez de la Vega, the famous Spanish dramatist: Vega, the famous Spanish dramatist; of Pope Lucius III.; of the great landscape painter, Calcott, and of Lockhart, biographer and son-in-law of Sir Walter Scott.

"Feast of Tabernacle." To return to the American mean-ing of the day, we find that the conception of an annual festival as conception of an annual festival as a harvest thanksgiving is weinigh as old as the human race. The idea did not spring ful born from the brain of Governor Bradford in 1621, for its growth can be traced from a feast and celebration of the Canaanites to the "Feast of Tabernacles" in Israel.

ites to the "Feast of Tabernacles" in Israel.

The harvest festival in Greece was held in honor of Demeter in Athens during November, and known as the "Thesmophoria." Or October 4 the Romans observed the festival of Ceres. And in England the "harvest home" has been handded down since the times of Egbert the Saxon. Thus the American Thanksgiving is a natural outgrowth of a harvest festival tradition rooted far back in the beginnings of history.

The first authentic Thanksgiving was that of 1621, called by Governor Bradford. The custom was not slow in spreading. Governor Winslow in 1623 appointed a special day. Boston celebrated the day in public in the year 1630. By 1632 the colonies had united in their observance of house occupied by an ex-fireman, P. P. Staine, 14 Fowler street, Wednesday morning. The building was a one-story shingle roof dwelling.

A one-story frame, shingle roof, twelling at 8 University avenue also was slightly damaged in the roof by chimney sparks. The house is owned and occupied by Minor Bul-ler. The roof of 192 Payne street, owned and occupied by B. J. Post, also suffered some damage from culture. The output of turpentine is placed at 471.031 casks, compared with 366,000 last year, and of rosin, 1,452,066 round barrels of approximately 500 pounds each, compared with 1.237,000 barrels last year. These figures do not include wood turpentine, wood rosin, and rosin reclaimed from still waste, which usually amount to about 10 per cent of production. The totals combine the actual statistics of production to August 1 and producers' estimates of production for the remainder of the sason. The producers, the report states, seem to have been over-conservative in their estimates and it is possible total production will be somewhat larger than calculated. The report follows:

On hand at stills April 1, 1920: Turpentine, 6,765 casks, compared with 24,050 last year: rosin, 67,439 barrels, compared with 130,035 last year. Production to August 1: Turpentine, 237,155; rosin, 712,387. Estimated production remainder of season: Turpentine, 238,76; rosin, 739,879. On hand at stills August 1: Turpentine, 29,343, compared with 19,364 last year; rosin, 167,422, compared with 115,702 last year. from the earliest hours this morn-ing and the people remained for hours outside the bakeries despite hours outside the bakeries despite the sharpness of the weather. Efforts are being made by the government to improve the situation by issuing bread from military bakeries, but matters have been tendered difficult by the master bakers, who have refused to grant wage increases demanded by the men. Bakery employees, as a result, threaten a general strike. In the meantime, ordinary loaves of bread are virtually unobtainable.

Firemen battling a blaze in the rear of R. A. Broyles' grocery store at 26 North avenue, surprised a Manufacturer Offers clerk who did not know of the blaze and who happened to look around while serving customers in the front of the store. A serrious conflagration was averted by the quick work of the fire fighters.

It takes vitality to succeed because success requires hard work. Some days you get along all right. Other times you have to strain and you overexert yourself. When that happens, your system is overtaxed. It shows first in the blood. The overexertion causes an increase in waste matter. The blood struggles to take care of it all. Gradually the poisons in the waste increase too fast for the blood. Then the blood becomes clogged.

First thing you know you feel all tired out. Sleep does you little good. You can't eat well. You wonder what the trouble is.

Then is the time to get some Pepto-Mangan, the plood building tonic. Take it for awhile till your blood is cleared up. You'll soon have plenty of rich, red blood. Notice the difference in your work. Your out because you are stronger. Washington, November 24.—Secretary Colby, of the state department, accompanied by Rear Admiral Frank B. Bassett and Major General Addert Conkhite as his aides, will sail from Hampton Roads Sunday on the battleship Florida for South America, where he will pay official visits to the governments of Brazil and Uruguay. He will also mean unofficial visit to Argentina.

The party will leave Washington Saturday on the presidential yacht Mayflower and will transfer to the Florida off Old Point Comfort Sunday morning. A small number of clerks and stenographers and an interpreter are the only others who will accompany the secretary.

old-time energy returns. You win out because you are stronger.

Pepto-Mangan is sold in both liquid and tablet form. The tablets have the same medicinal value as the liquid. Take either kind you prefer. But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan—"Gude's." The full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," should be on the package.—
